Kat Elliot

Kat is a recent graduate of St. Mary’s College who loves creating artwork and working with children. When she is not painting landscapes, she provides private art lessons to children in the community. While their ages, skill sets, and interests all differ, she works to make sure that her students have fun, remain engaged, and learn something new. She aims to provide this same experience for participants this summer at the South Bend Museum of Art, and is excited to finally meet and begin working with all of the new students!
